

Heat Conduction: Task 13

The image describes a rectangular body with linearly increasing heat conductivity from left to right and the temperature on the right side is the maximum temperature.

1

the heat conductivity increases from left to right so the temperature gradient decreases.