

14-E-6 Real Diesel ignition

In a real diesel engine, the fuel is ignited by:

Heat resulting from compressing air that is supplied for combustion