

To derive the Maxwell relations we use the

The Maxwell relations are derived from the 4 thermodynamic energies, u , h , a and g making use of the fact that they are state functions having exact differentials for which holds the the order of differentiation for mixed differentials is not important.