

Isochoric process

The isochoric process is one in which:

Answer: the specific volume does not change

In an isochoric process the specific volume is constant.