

Lecture 12 - Question 1

Which of the statements is true regarding fin efficiency?

As the fin efficiency increases, the transferred heat approaches the transferable heat.

The efficiency tells us something about the state or quality of being efficient and not about the capacity of heat that is or can be transferred.