Throttling device

In a throttling device, what do we get from conservation of energy when changes in PE and KE are taken zero?

Answer: $h1 = h2$

Explanation: Enthalpy of the fluid before throttling is equal to the enthalpy of the fluid after throttling.